Clinton J. Minton

Network Administrator

“I am indebted to my father for living, but to my teacher for living well”

-Alexander the Great

Clinton grew up in a small town in the rural Midwest. He started learning how to fix computers after he accidentally downloaded a virus onto the family computer when he was eight-years-old. His mother refused to pay to have it fixed by professionals and told him that if he wanted to play video games again he would need to fix it himself. Thus began his career in information technology.

In the Summer of 2019, Clinton graduated with degrees and certificates in information security and network administration from San Antonio College. Clinton began attending Texas A&M University San Antonio in the fall of 2018. He is currently pursuing a bachelor of applied arts & sciences in information technology with a concentration in information assurance and security and is expected to graduate in May 2020.
