1913 February 4: born Rosa Louise McCauley in Tuskegee, Alabama; her mother was a teacher, father a carpenter; one great-grandfather Scots-Irish, one great-grandmother part-Native American slave. After parents separate, she grows up on a farm with maternal grandparents, attends rural schools; family is African Methodist Episcopal Church (AME), a black denomination founded by free blacks in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, in the early 19th century.

1924: moves to Montgomery; attends Industrial School for Girls (burned twice by arsonists); and Alabama State Teachers School for Negroes; drops out to care for her grandmother and mother after they become ill.

1932: marries Raymond Parks, active NAACP member who raises funds for the Scottsboro Boys; urges her to complete high school degree (1933). Only 7% of African Americans have a high school diploma at that time.

1943-57: secretary of the Montgomery branch of the NAACP.

1944: works at Maxwell Air Force; being federal property, the Base does not permit segregation.

1955 August 28: Emmitt Till brutally murdered.

1955 1 December: refuses to give up her seat on the bus; her prominence in the community and willingness to become a controversial figure leads the NAACP to consider her the best candidate for a successful court challenge of segregation.

1955-56: bus boycott; court case is won; moves to Detroit shortly thereafter.

1965-88: secretary and receptionist to John Conyers, an African-American U.S. Representative from Detroit; active in the Black Power movement; supports the rights of political prisoners in the U.S.

1979: NAACP Spingarn Medal ; 1992: writes Rosa Parks: My Story; 1996: Presidential Medal of Freedom .

1999: Congressional Gold Medal ; 2005: passes away; first woman to lie in honor in the Capitol Rotunda, third of only four private citizens to receive this honor; 2013: posthumous statue in the United States Capitol's National Statuary Hall.

4 February: California and Missouri commemorate Rosa Parks Day on her birthday, February 4.
1 December: Ohio and Oregon commemorate the anniversary of the day she was arrested, December 1.
