Assessment & WILDCAT WOW DAYS

Our students have a goal of completing a course or a degree, but how do we know that students have achieved our desired learning or for a class or degree? Grades are not enough, so it is through assessment that we learn this. Assessment is the process of collecting and analyzing information to determine if progress has been made toward a desired end.

A key part of the assessment process is reporting to leaders and colleagues the levels of student achievement as well as the improvement plans and results. This year, NVC instituted a best practice for this exchange to take place—Wildcat WOW Days. The events allow college leaders and faculty/staff to receive highlights of accomplishments and identify potential strategic and operational gaps.

Two WOW sessions are completed and you can watch them at: November 8th WOW Mediasite, and November 22nd WOW Mediasite. WANT TO HEAR MORE? Stay after Bragging Breakfast on December 13 and celebrate with our final presenters.

WANT TO GIVE SOME FEEDBACK ON WILDCAT WOW? Help make improvements in Wildcat WOW days for next year by completing the short survey at:
