David Miramontes

ENGINEERING

“In the depth of winter I finally learned that there was in me an invincible summer.”

Albert Camus

David Crucifixio Miramontes was born in San Diego, California in 2002 and was raised in both Los Angeles and San Antonio. He is described by friends as mysterious, persistent, driven, collected, and a silly goose. With familial roots in Mexicali and Sinaloa, education was not the default path for his Mexican household. However, his mother broke the curse and received two associate degrees at San Antonio College and he is now following in her footsteps.

At SAC, David has become a part of the Honors Academy, Phi Theta Kappa and the National Society of Leadership and Success. He also was the treasurer for the Dreamers Club, where he helped with on-campus events and volunteered to serve the community and advocate as an ally.

He was always good with numbers, had good problem-solving skills, and saw that engineering was a secure field to work in. Now he is going to transfer to University of Texas at San Antonio to complete a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering.
